Potential monthly rent at 100% occupancy	$3,200
Modeled economic occupancy	96% each year; vacancy loss applied to potential rent
Rent / expense / reserve growth	3.0% / 2.5% / 2.5% annually

Method and expense scope

Annual potential rent equals monthly rent x 12. Collected rent equals potential rent x economic occupancy. NOI equals collected rent less operating expenses. The catalog operating expense assumption is treated as inclusive of property taxes, insurance, management, routine repairs, and administration; no second management fee is deducted. Reserves are deducted after NOI.

Investor cash interpretation

Year 1 modeled distribution is $18,931, or $18.93 per assumed unit. Cash distribution yield on the reference acquisition value is 4.21%. This differs from the catalog headline return, which is not used as a model input.
